

April 22, 2016

BOB MELVIN BIOGRAPHY

Dr. Robert Melvin teaches in the Economics, Applied Communication, and Executive MBA programs at the University of Denver. He is the owner of R. D. Melvin and Associates, a training and consulting firm. His teaching and consulting work center on the application of performance effectiveness issues in the leadership area including teambuilding, project management, negotiations and persuasion, and organizational development. Much of Dr. Melvin's work is focused on the development and application of skills that assist people in better identifying and meeting the needs and goals of employees and clients. He is a frequently requested speaker and has a reputation for making presentations that are both pointed and entertaining.

At the University of Denver, Dr. Melvin teaches a number of undergraduate and graduate courses and previously facilitated the Emerging Leaders Program. He has received many awards for teaching excellence, including the International Communication Association Excellent Teaching Award, Alpha Kappa Psi Distinguished Professor Award, the University of Denver Adjunct Professor of the Year Award, the Women's College Professor of the Year Award four times and the Regis University Outstanding Teaching Award.

Dr. Melvin's work in organizational development and team building was highlighted in U.S.A. Today. The Japanese business community became familiar with his "virtual reality" project management program in interviews conducted on "Tokyo Today". Dr. Melvin's clients include the U.S. Office of Personnel Management, U. S. Army, Allstate, Children's Hospital, EnCana, Ball Aerospace, CH2MHILL, the Colorado School of Mines, the U.S. Dept. of Energy, the Colorado Compensation Insurance Authority, the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture, the Denver Museum of Natural History, AT&T, Allied Housing, Rose Medical Center, HealthOne, the Women's Vision Foundation, and Hatch International.

Robert D. Melvin, Ph.D.
R. D. Melvin and Associates
3671 South Grape Street
Denver, Colorado 80237
303.757.2731 rmelvin@du.edu