KATE CULLIGAN BIOGRAPHY

Kate Culligan, founder of Kate Culligan Associates brings twenty-five years of experience in marketing, management and human resource development to train and coach individuals to use their strengths to thrive within their organizations! She works with employees to survive change and helps new managers to effectively lead and motivate their teams. Kate also works with both individuals and teams within corporations, government agencies, non-profits and small businesses to provide consulting and training in the areas of performance management, career and leadership development, employee engagement, emotional intelligence and building a Strengths-Based organization.

Prior to starting her own firm, Kate directed marketing at Denver Clear Channel, one of the country's largest media corporations, and was involved in several mergers. Surviving these transitions, led her to complete her masters to learn how to make these mergers less chaotic and more humane for the employees.

Kate has been on the board of directors of the American Society of Training and Development, Rocky Mountain Chapter and Colorado Career Development Association and is certified to administer Myers-Briggs and has completed coaches training through the Coaches Training Institute. Kate has a BA in psychology and a Masters in Organizational Performance.
